

Let's make a project for you to use while you're working through the rest of this book. Click File > New Project, then:

